Your Connection to Apple Computer

n the fast-changing world of computers how can you keep up with the latest developments hardware and software?

How can you access the latest information out Apple computers and related products?
Where can you get advice on how to connect r equipment, or how to make the most of your tware?

n short, how can you have a closer connection h Apple Computer?

Apple Concourse offers a solution.

Apple Concourse provides you with the ormation you most need to know. It's your nnection to the Apple community.

y to Use Apple Concourse brings the 'point and click' plicity of the Macintosh to computer mmunications. All the power of mmunications without the complications.

ntinuous Updates pple Concourse is continuously updated. All latest information is easily accessible. Apple ncourse will automatically let you know about v information in the areas that interest you. And e you there. Quickly.

fordable pple Concourse is normally available for the ce of a local phone call, plus connection rges. There is also the once-only cost of a rter Pack.

Electronic Mail is the fast, efficient and friendly way to communicate. Through 'gateways' you can send mail to almost all other e-mail services. You can append program and data files to messages. And use the mail facilities to get technical support.

There are special information areas that keep you up-to-date with the latest developments at Apple. You'll find press releases and technical details of Apple products as well as selected highlights from Apple Computer's own databases.
And 'conferences' where you can exchange ideas and information.

Apple systems software is available on-line for you to download. And there are public domain applications too. Time-saving desk accessories that enhance the facilities of the commercial programs acquired from your dealer. And there are other areas offering HyperCard stacks... Graphics... and a great deal more.

...And you don't have to own a Macintosh. Apple Concourse can be accessed from an Apple II or GS with virtually any terminal emulation program, and there are plenty of information areas dedicated to the whole range of Apple products.
