How do I get to the conferences?

Enter a "c" and press return at the main command line. The system will go into the "Conf" mode and tell you this by presenting the "Conf?" prompt.

Enter "g" and press return at the "Conf?" prompt and you will see the following prompt:

Enter conference name (? for list of conferences):

At this point, enter a conference name (e.g. help, gp.press, ai.uan, etc.) followed by a return. You will then see:

visiting (conference name)...

"i" to see index of topics, "?" for command summary. "h" for more help

You are now in the conference you selected. Follow the instructions and explore!

What else can I do in the "Conf" mode?

- Use the (l)ist command to find conferences
- Use the (m)aintenance command to create a list your favorite conferences
- Use the (v)isit command to find the latest entries in your favorite conferences

How do I learn even more about conferences?

- Read chapter 6 of your User's Manual
- Use our online help (? and 'help')
- Ask a friend for help
- Go to the help conference
- Read the NetNews newsletter
- Consult the Quick Reference Card
- Send e-mail to support
- Call us @ (415) 923-0900 and ask for help

Remember! You are entitled to a free hour of off-peak time each and every month. So go ahead and press that C command!
