

In 2003, I co-authored a paper on Community Knowledge Management with Jim Nichols, it was part of a project for ACE (Adult Community Education) looking at how education has to change to match different needs for vocational education in a rapidly changing world.